

"TWILIGHT BATHING" BECOMES POPULAR

Many Washingtonians are expected to flock to the municipal pools to take advantage of Superintendent Brunner's "twilight bathing," which became effective last night.

During July and August, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, the pools will be reserved for ladies, being open from 6 in the morning until 8 at night.

Men may use the Monument pools on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. The first two days the pools will be open from 9 in the morning until 8 at night, and on Saturday three hours earlier.

From 6 until 9 in the morning on Tuesdays and Thursdays mixed bathing will be permitted. On Sunday, from 7 until 7, mixed bathing will also be in order.

MERCHANTS' CREDIT BUREAU IS OPENED

Opening day of the newly-organized credit bureau of the Retail Merchants' Association yesterday was a great success. Never before in the history of the association has an idea taken so immediate a foothold and grown so rapidly.

The chief of the bureau, Miss Elizabeth Rawlings, declared at the close of the day's business that more than three score persons applied for admission into the ranks of Washington creditors.

That the bureau will practically eliminate the "beats" from the list of the creditors in the District is the belief of Charles J. Columbus, secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association.

Dayton Settles Car Strike.

The street railway strike in Dayton, Ohio, affecting approximately 1,000 men, has been settled through the efforts of Mark L. Crawford, of Chicago, a Federal conciliator, the Department of Labor announced yesterday afternoon.

GERMANS GIVE PROOF OF LOYALTY TO U. S.

Many Foreigners Seek Naturalization Before Justice Siddons.

It is rather hard for a man, born and raised in Germany, with mother, sister or brother still in Germany and not heard from since the declaration of war, to announce in public that he is willing to go to war against the land of his birth, not knowing whether he will have to shoot at his own relatives.

This happened quite a number of times yesterday before Justice Siddons, who is hearing naturalization cases. Herman Winkler, already registered for war, publisher of the Washington Journal, a German newspaper circulated in the District, announced his intention of fighting his brother, who is still in Germany, should he be called on to do so. He was admitted to citizenship.

Louis Schickhardt, a baker, residing at 20 D street northwest, was vouched for by a former subject of Austria and one of Sweden. Schickhardt has a father and three sisters in Germany, and will war against them if necessary. Paul Kurt Richter, jeweler, told Justice Siddons he did not believe the Kaiser really ruled by divine right. He was admitted with the understanding that Wilhelm had no more control over him.

One Belgian, Henry Otto Grock, who resides at the morgue, was admitted. Joseph Braun, 634 Fourteenth street northeast; Mary E. Myer, 1823 Lamont street northwest; Conrad R. Muller, 229 F street northeast; Gottlieb Winkler, 188 U street Anacostia; Theodore Welmer, 609 Twenty-second street northwest; John H. Schwarzman, 517 Thirteenth street southeast; Ernest Goltz, 14 D street southeast; and Annie M. Stuart, 829 Twentieth street northeast, all Germans, were admitted to citizenship after being questioned closely by the court as to the cause of the war, the part played by the United States and the justifications of each side. Several Austrians and Hungarians were also admitted along with several Italians. British subjects and numerous Russians. Several prospective German citizens did not answer to their names when called and will state their cases today.

STUDENT OFFICERS ON FINAL TRAINING

Learning to Kill "Enemy" at Fort Myer Reserve Camp.

Student officers at Fort Myer reserve camp have entered upon the final stage of training. The first phase was largely devoted to drill and other exercises tending to inculcate discipline.

Now the young officers are learning how to kill the "enemy." Only the members of the First Infantry company are practicing at the target range.

The cadets are being drilled in the other forms of offensive work, such as throwing hand grenades and bombs, use of trench mortar and the like. They are not entrusted to handle real explosive bombs, but they will be given the real thing in a short time. Bayonet practice on the runway, is a regular feature of each day's drill. Bundles of sticks are used for dummy figures, and the student officer is not only learning how to bayonet a "German," but also how to parry off blows aimed by the enemy.

Over at Camp American University, 600 members of the engineer companies, of reserve officers, are daily building great bridges, taught corduroy road building and other things they will find useful when they get to the front.

To the Engineer Corps will fall the work of constructing barbed wire entanglements. Practice in this class of construction work as well as the digging of trenches is being given.

To Have Perfect Skin Throughout the Summer

These days the face needs special care and attention. Flying dust and dirt, the beating sun, are severe on any skin. Their despoiling effects are best overcome by the application of pure mercurized wax. This keeps skin and pores in a cleanly condition, the complexion beautiful and white and spotless. Discolored, freckled and roughened cuticle are actually absorbed by it. One ounce of mercurized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to completely renovate a soiled complexion. It is used like cold cream, allowed to remain on over night, and washed off in the morning.

As the skin tends to expand in warm weather, causing wrinkles to form, a good astringent lotion should be used. Dissolve 1 oz. powdered salicylic acid in 1/2 pt. witch hazel. Bathe the face in this during the heat of the day or before going out for theater or social affair. It is a remarkable skin tightener and wrinkle eraser.—Adv.

MAKE HIGH RECORD AT TARGET RANGE

Troop A Cavalrymen Win Gold Piece and Honors at Practice.

Troop A, of the District Cavalry, returned jubilant from target practice with the highest percentage made this year on the Congress Heights rifle range. The Boy Scout Band preceded their march through the city, and the sun-tanned troopers, followed by the war shot National Guard camp equipage, looked like seasoned veterans returning from a campaign.

With first call at 5 a. m., and supper at 7, the new men learned the meaning of intensive training. Each morning the shooting began at 7, with those not so occupied pasting and marking targets in the pits, and in the afternoon it was mounted drill: first on the bull ring at the trot; then close-order drill, and later mounted pistol practice, with cleaning equipment in between, as well as the watering, feeding and grooming the horses.

When the instruction practice was over it showed to the credit of the troop. Four experts, thirteen sharpshooters, forty-three marksmen, eleven first class, eight second class and only eight unqualified out of the three officers and eighty-four enlisted men who shot the National Guard camp course. Those who had qualified as experts and sharpshooters then shot the regular army qualification course, producing one expert, one sharpshooter, twelve marksmen and three first class.

When the results were in, Col. King, the range officer, congratulated the troop on making a general average of 61 per cent, the highest made this year in the District, and possibly the highest made by any Guard organization.

Capt. James H. Washburn again qualified as expert in the regular army course, with a score of 75 out of a possible 80. First Sgt. Simon Allen made the next highest score and won the $10 gold piece offered annually as a prize by Arthur Smith, the provisional captain of Troop A, when it was organized, for the highest score made by an enlisted man.

Among the recruits, Sergt. John D. Ronnett, Jr., rolled up the highest score, with 214 out of a possible 250, and was second to Capt. Washburn's 223 on that course.

Private Alvin H. Belk followed Capt. Washburn and First Sgt. Allen with 232 out of a possible 250, qualifying as marksman.

A big girder recently shipped from Steelton, Pa., to Chicago, required four flat cars to carry it.

BARE LEGS DISTURB ATLANTIC CITY GUARDS

Bathing Girls Spring New Sensations on Beach.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 2.—The 1917 Bathing Girl sailed forth in new sensations today on the thronged beach. The gypsy maid shook hands with the "Bah Bah" lassie, and both in turn greeted the liberty girl and then the Russian bather.

The four looked askance at the bloomer girl, who wears flesh colored stockings with implements of war printed in black. War is affecting bathing fashions in the same way as it has helped to mould the latest in milady's other habiliments.

The gypsy girl comes from Bohemia. She wears a short-skirted suit with a deep orange girdle of many hues. The college maid either selects the colors of her own school or blends the tinges of that of her sweetheart in her suit. The school emblem, and oftentimes fraternity insignias, creep out somewhere in the design. The liberty maid, who created such a sensation last week, is still perhaps most popular. There were hundreds of red, white and blue costumes on the strand today. The Goddess of Liberty bathing caps were also widely worn.

The Russian bathing beauty has now permanently joined the beach family and, incidentally, chafes mightily at the restrictions which do not permit her to bathe sans hose.

Bare Legs Unchallenged.

Quite a number ventured forth today bare-legged. The numbers worried the guards and for the first time this season the ban against stockinged maids remained unchallenged.

The maid from Russia wore a red Russian helmet of rubber. It is pulled coyly down well over one eye. Her suit consists of frilled bloomers with a Russian blouse, the pelum of which suggests a skirt. The frilled bloomers are much more noticeable than the five inches of cloth which answers for a skirt.

And the Indian girl must not be forgotten. She wears a dark brown suit with a red belt and a red headband adorned with giddy buttons. True to tradition, she also puts a stiff quill in her rubber cap. The bathing suits with white pique knee cuffs are still holding their own.

Night Bathing Inaugurated.

Night bathing was inaugurated last night. Three districts along the beach front were illuminated with great searchlights which turned night into day. Thousands rambled in the surf, and the sport seemed more enjoyable than during the regular hours. The full quota of guards remained on duty, and there are now three regular eight-hour shifts to protect bathers day and night.

War prices are in effect for trips in the airplanes this season. It now costs $25 for fifteen minutes in the unexpended clouds. The little boat of $10, however, does not seem to deter the curious, and the two stations here continue to reap a harvest.

Atlantic City has recruited the maximum number of 150 men for a new unit of field artillery. There are 250 enrolled, so that a waiting list is on hand to replace possible rejections. The government has ordered the equipment and the company will join the New Jersey National Guard when it is called to camp at Sea Girt.

Ambassador and Mrs. George Bakhmeteff motored back to Washington today, following a short rest at the Traymore Hotel.

Soldiers and SailorsTo Be Guests at Play

Soldiers and sailors of the army and navy of the United States, as well as officers in training, will be the guests tomorrow night at the Sylvan Theater on the Monument Grounds at a play written especially in their honor by Mrs. Christian Hennick, entitled "The Call of the Allies."

Reginald DeKoven, the composer, assisted by a large group of artists from New York, who will accompany him, will lead the music and the community singing. The Marine Band will play the accompaniment. There will be neither reserved seats nor charge for admission. The play will begin at 8 o'clock.

The rehearsal, which was to have been held last night under the direction of William Stansfield, was postponed until this evening on account of the rain.

The public electric stations of the country represent a valuation of $400,000,000.

COAST ARTILLERY GETS MANY RECRUITS

Men of Local Command Expect to See Service Abroad.

Officers and men of the local Coast Artillery companies, the second of which is now being rapidly recruited to war strength, expect to see service on the French front.

In an attractive booklet describing service in this branch of the service, it is pointed out that the Coast Artillery will handle the large mobile howitzers and other long range guns in France. In other words, they will be selected to serve with the heavy artillery, some guns of which fire shells which cost $500 to manufacture and are filled with high explosives. All guns above six inches in calibre are rated as being in the heavy artillery. Owing to the fact that the Coast

Artillery Corps of the regular army is now at war strength, the only opportunity a man has at the present time to enlist is with the Coast Artillery of the National Guard, the ranks of which are being filled rapidly.

"In Union There is Strength" A. Lincoln

FROM the beginning of the Firestone business, Lincoln's advice was heeded by its founder and present head, Mr. Firestone. He saw the power in singleness of purpose, and the roots of Firestone success are laid deep in organization.

Firestone

builders, having first established the standard of perfection in fabric tires, now offer this super-size Cord, the tire of highest efficiency. It has more than extra resiliency. It has a sturdiness of structure that means endurance for city use or buffeting of bad roads.

With the true Abe Lincoln policy of "pull together," Firestone stock distribution has made 11,000 employees active stockholders in the business. Thus every Firestone employee has a personal interest in giving you the right tire and service.

What They Say at The Washington HeraldWhat Turns Green in the SPRINGTIME?

No doubt you've heard the answer to this old conundrum. "What turns green in the Springtime?"—Christmas jewelry.

Some newspapers present very glowing claim to advertisers.

but, like Christmas jewelry, the claims don't wear well. They tarnish when put to the test.

A newspaper's value to advertisers is measured by results.

The Herald's consistent advertising gains, covering a period of years, evidences the value the advertisers of Washington place on it. For the first six months of this year The Herald gained, over the same period of last year, 260,857 lines of advertising. This was a gain on top of last year's gain of more than a million lines.
